ILLUSTRATIONS.

A Hand Was Laid On The

Frenchman's Collar, And

He Was Hurl'd Back Upon

The Crowd ... 313

"Ah!" He Muttered, With

a Sardonic Smile, "A Love

Trust! I Thought So When

I Saw My Lady's Face" ... 516

"Ah! Here Are The

Truants!" Cousin Maude

Exclaims, As We Re-Enter

The Room ... 469

"Answer Me, Once For All!"

Miss Halford Nearly

Screamed, As She Rose

To Her Feet ... 73

"Are They Gone, Doctor?"

Gladys Cried, As She Came

From The Housekeeper's

Room. ... 589

"Are You Waiting For Me,

My, Pet?" Asked a Cheery

Voice, Which She Knew

To Be Her Fiance's ... 85

As Jack Came Nearer, Violet

Stretched Her Hands As

If To Protect Cyril From a Savage Enemy ... 433

As She Spoke She Rose Towards Me, And I Gazed At

Her With a Long, Exhaustive Stare ... 132

As The Last Note Died

Away, Percy Vernon

Pushed Aside The Bram-bles, And Stood Face To Face With The Songstress ... 229

"Aunt Lucy, Don't You

Think Love An Awful

Thing?" ... 265

Before Hetty Can Reply, a

Man Appears Through a

Gap In The Hedge—Dis-

reputable, Bold, And Swag-

gering ... 61

Belleville.—The Stranger At

The Inn ... 564

"Busy, Charming Miss Ca-

rew? What a Pretty Picture You Are Making Of

The Old Place!" ... 289

"By George!" Cried The Little Lawyer, "I Begin

To Believe The Boy Was

Right After All" ... 12

Cecil Egerton Was Standing

At The Entrance Of The

Tent, Looking In—His

Face Dark And Lowering ... 192

Convinced I Had To Do

With a Mad Woman, I

Cowered Behind a Chair

And Kept a Greedy Eye

On The Bell ... 156

"Don't Beat About The

Bush!" Violet Said,

Hoarsely, "Is Jack Dead?" ... 588

"Don't Do That!" The Dancer Cried, "You Will

Throw It Away Like a

Poisoned Thing When You

Know All!" ... 301

"Don't!" Said The Girl,

Softly; "He Always Used

To Call Me That" ... 553

Going Away To-Morrow—

So Soon? I Thought You

Were So—So Happy?" ... 253

"Good News!" Cried Ralph

Armitage's Sister, "Jack

Sartoris Is No More Dead

Than You Or I!" ... 481

Harold Looked Up With

Deep Interest At The

Grey Weatherbeaten Tower

"Have Pity Upon Me!" I

Cried, And Then I Burst

Into Tears ... 300

"Have You No Idea," He

Said, "Who Has Re-

deemed It?" ... 276

He Came Towards The Table

With a Look Of Determination On His Dark Keen

Face ... 505

Her Last Appeal ... 277

Her Soft Dark Eyes were

Fixed On Mr. Forrester

With a Strange Inquiry In

Their Depths. "Is it Really You?" ... 577

"How Shall We Tell Her

Mother?" Asked Lady

Maude, Remembering Similar Grief Of Her Own ... 36

"I Fell In Love With Your Daughter," Repeated Geoffrey, Coolly, "And I Resolved, If Possible, To Win

Her" ... 468

"Indeed!" The Widow Said,

I Was Not Aware You

Were To Escort Nesta To

Paris!" ... 517

In One Passionate Movement

Of Rapture, Hyacinth

Knew It Was Raphael! ... 205

"I See That What I Have

Been Told Is Correct. You

Have a Handsome, Rich,

Middle-Aged Lover!" ... 97

"I Should Have Thought An

Appointment Wrong At

The Convent," Irene Said,

"But, Somehow, Things

Seem Different Now" ... 492

"I Shouldn't Like To Hurt

The Old 'Un," The Young

Gentleman Replied; "He's

a Mighty Nuisance, But Never Did Us Any Harm,"

"I Take Charge Of The Money, Mr. Saul," Constance Said ... 373

"I Tell You," Thundered

Denzil, "I Know She Is

Here! No One Has a Right

To Stand Between Husband And Wife!" ... 84

"It Is False!" Cried Ma-

vourneen, "My Mother

Was An Angel" ... 421

"It Is Not His Wine; It Is

His Wife's. Besides, I Expect He Is Drinking Yours

At This Moment!" ... 60

It Occurred To Kenneth That

Somewhere Or Other He

Had Seen Miss Rose Before ... 37

It Would Be Hard To Say

Which Was The Most Surprised To See Me—Hugh

Or His Companion ... 252

"Ivy, I Feel Brave Now,

For You Have Promised

To Be Mine, Whatever

Happens" ... 324

Joe Stood Up, Threw Down

The Paper, Looked At Me,

And Burst Into a Savage

Laugh ... 1

Lady Jane's Hatred Was

Burning More Fiercely

Than The Flame Which

Consumed The Words Of

Peace And Forgiveness ... 385

"Listen To Me, Ermen-trude," Her Mother Said.

"You Are Getting a Little

Too Independent And Self-

Willed" ... 420

"My Dear Godfather," Cried

Guy, Growing Almost Sorrowful, "Why Won't You

Trust Me, When I Tell

You I Shall Never Marry?" ... 529

Nellie Shrieked And Staggered—The Blood Flowing

From a Fearful Wound ... 13

"Now," The Girl Asserted,

"If I'm To Be Talked To,

I'm Ready!" ... 145

"Oh! If You Could Only Refute These Awful Tales!"

I Added, Desperately ... 180

"Oh! Mr. Beresford, Are

You Sure She Is Not

Dead?" ... 241

"Oh! So You Have Come

Back At Last!" The Old

Woman Muttered, Without Turning Her Head ... 181

"Oh! Why Didn't You Come

Before?" Violet Said, In a Tone of Deep Regret ... 540

Poor Nell Sank Down,

Wrapped In Her Shawl,

And Very Soon, Tired Out,

Fell Asleep ... 108

Ralph Armitage, Kneeling

Down By Her Side, Said,

Hoarsely, "Violet, Have I

Waited Long Enough?" ... 612
